U. S. ON VERGE OF ENTERING GREAT WAR

President Wilson's Note to the Belligerents Causes Demoralization on Stock Exchange

Note Does Not Propose Peace
and Does Not Offer Mediation

RECEIVED IN FOREIGN CAPITALS

(The Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—Danger to the United States being drawn by the world-war because of its increasing critical position as a neutral is one of the main reasons that prompted President Wilson to address a note to all belligerents suggesting a common ground be reached by a discussion of terms settling the war. The note is believed to have already reached all belligerent capitals.
Secretary Lansing today authorized a statement saying that America's position is being more and more involved and as the United States was drawing nearer to the verge of war it was entitled to know exactly what the belligerents "sought" so that this nation can regulate its future conduct. He declared that the material rights of the United States were not the subject of consideration, however. The note was refused to comment on the style but did not attempt to lessen the importance of Secretary Lansing's statement.
Secretary Lansing further stated: "The sending of this note will indicate the possibility of the United States being forced into the war. That possibility ought to serve as a restraint and sobering force in safeguarding American rights. It may also serve as an earlier conclusion of the war."
President Wilson this afternoon addressed Secretary Lansing to the White House for a conference.
The note does not propose peace and does not offer the mediation of the United States, and states positively that the president without assurances that the war will be favorably received by all parties.
It is reported that President Wilson in the position, however, that his note does not offer the mediation of the United States, and states positively that the president without assurances that the war will be favorably received by all parties.
The note is believed to have already reached all belligerent capitals.
President Wilson has made clear that the United States has no interest in the terms upon which peace is made, it has a profound interest in bringing about an agreement for the maintenance of peace in the world.
von Bernstorff, the German ambassador conferred with Secretary Lansing today at which conference the secretary explained the president's action.

PROH. AMENDMENT FAVORABLY REPORTED

(The Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—The senate judiciary committee by a vote of 13 to 3 favorably reported the National Prohibition amendment today. The amendment is materially altered from the form reported to the house. Senators Culberson, Reed and Bradeggs voted against a favorable report.

FOUR AEROPLANES OF GERMANY BROUGHT DOWN BY THE FRENCH

(The Associated Press.)
PARIS, Dec. 21.—Four German aeroplanes were brought down by the French on the Franco-Belgian front, says the official statement. French aeroplanes bombarded points behind the German lines. Otherwise operations are comparatively quiet.

"KALAMITY KLUB" ENJOYED VERY PLEASANT SESSION
The "Kalamity Klub" was entertained Wednesday afternoon by Miss Arline Crenshaw at her home on South Ridgewood avenue and a delightful social time was enjoyed from 3:00 to 6:00 o'clock. Bridge is the feature of entertainment with the club and the prizes Wednesday afternoon were secured by Miss Crenshaw and Miss Alyce Green. At the conclusion of the cards an appetizing Welsh rarebit was enjoyed by the party. The membership of the club includes just enough for two tables of bridge and is composed of the Misses Inez Barron, Geraldine Davey, Emma Wallace, Arline Crenshaw, Alyce Green, Antoinette Foltz, Ruth Rodgers and Dora Williams. In case of inability to attend a meeting the members secure someone to substitute for them on that occasion.

Florida Leads Ten States
in Increase of Population

(The Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—Forty and nine-tenths of the population of the United States lives in cities or more than 3,000 inhabitants, according to the census bureau estimate made public today. The population of the United States, including territories and possessions, is estimated at 112,444,000. Florida, with a 22 5-10 per cent increase, led the states which have taken a census since 1910. Wyoming, Kansas and South Dakota decreased in population. The population of New York city is estimated at 5,602,000.

TRADING TODAY BROKE ALL RECORDS

(The Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, Dec. 21.—Weakness bordering on demoralization, marked the opening of the stock exchange today. Influenced by President Wilson's note to the belligerents, war shares broke two to twelve points at the opening. One block of Steel of 50,000 shares, the largest in history, was offered at two and one-half to three and one-half down.
Many brokers today refused to accept orders on less than 50 per cent margin. The day's trading probably broke all records on the stock exchange. The sales to 1 o'clock were approximately two million shares.
Bethlehem Steel, which yesterday dropped 71 points, again went down 11 points today. The outstanding declines at the close include American Beet Sugar 9%; American Car and Foundry 4%; American Locomotive 5%; American Zinc, preferred 7; Anaconda Copper 6; Baldwin Locomotive 8%; Central Leather 10%; C. M. & St. Paul 4%; Crucible Steel 3; Gulf States Steel 28, and many others.

CITY SCHOOLS CLOSE TOMORROW FOR THE HOLIDAY SEASON

"All Daytona public schools will close tomorrow afternoon for the Christmas holidays," stated Principal H. Clay Marks to a News representative this morning. "School will be dismissed for two weeks and will be resumed on the morning of January 8." No special Christmas program has been prepared by the school as a whole, but the teachers of the separate grades will hold their Christmas celebrations in their own rooms as they may see fit.

Will Gardner and a college friend, W. A. Pattishall, students at Stetson university, Deland, will come to Daytona this afternoon to spend a part of the Christmas vacation with Mr. Gardner's parents and brother. Mr. and Mrs. Geo. H. Gardner and Curtis Gardner, at their home on South Ridgewood avenue.

WHEAT BROKE AT OPENING BUT RALLIED AT CLOSING

(The Associated Press.)
CHICAGO, Dec. 21.—After a wildly exciting opening during which prices broke as much as seven cents as a result of the president's note, wheat rallied at the closing and was strong one-eighth lower to two and one-quarter higher.

Rev. W. G. Fletcher, who had been here for a few days with his wife and little daughter, Isabel, left Wednesday afternoon for Miami and other points, expecting to be gone for about a month. He had planned to leave Tuesday evening, but the train was several hours late and he postponed his departure until the following day.

DANCE AT CASINO
BURGOYNE TONIGHT

The second regular dance of the winter will be held at the Casino Burgoyne tonight, with Tucker's orchestra under the direction of Leader Maurice Kirk. A series of folk dances by the children of the Daytona public schools will take place between the hours of 7:45 and 8:45 and the regular dance will commence at 9. All people, young and old, who enjoy a pleasant evening of dancing and music are cordially invited to the Casino tonight. Tonight's dance will be the last before the grand ball to be held on New Year's Eve.

CHECK RAISER AND AUTO THIEF CAUGHT

In a few hours after the wires were sent out broadcast yesterday for Robert Coyne after the discovery of his running away with Charley Cannon's Ford and passing several worthless checks on Saturday night, the police in Jacksonville found the car in a garage and a policeman by the name of Shorty nabbed Coyne on the streets. Sheriff Smith and Charley Cannon left on the midnight train for Jacksonville the one for his car and the other for the prisoner, says the DeLand News.

Read & Denny are also to be added to the list of victims for on Saturday night this firm obligingly cashed a check for $22, $15 of this being for goods and the remainder cash in exchange.

A correction is necessary as Coyne was referred to yesterday as a road engineer, while in reality he was but an assistant, third or fourth or thereabouts.

Charges will be preferred against Coyne this afternoon and it is expected he will be up for grand larceny and passing worthless checks, and his few days' jaunt at the expense of others is liable to land him for a long term on the very roads he helped to lay out.

Guarding Against Fires in Austria.

As a preventive against fire Austrian laws require dwellings and business houses to be built throughout of solid materials.

Cure for Restlessness.

Medical men now cure restlessness, apprehension and "nerves" by prescribing baths, exercise and the correction of bad habits. They relieve anxiety and morbid fears and correct nervous irregularities of the heart and circulation by a course of deep breathing.

Keep Busy.

To be happily busy—busy in doing something we delight in doing—is a splendid antidote for worry. For indolence is an acid on the wheels of life; sand in the eye of energy. Thousands of semi-invalids to whom adverse fortune has denied the pleasures of useful work have ridden to health on a hobby.

420 TONS OF COAL LOADED IN 24 MIN.

(Associated Press Correspondence.)

ANCON, C. Z., Dec. 7.—A record for quick coaling has been made by the new coaling plant at the Panama canal at the Atlantic terminus. It recently delivered 420 tons of coal into the bunkers of a ship and sent her about her business in 24 minutes, and that, too, with the use of only one of the four loading towers with which the plant is equipped. The single conveyor was handling coal at the rate of 1,042 tons an hour.

There is practically never a ship comes to the plant which can take coal as fast as the plant can deliver it. The conveyors have to be stopped repeatedly to allow the coal to be trimmed evenly in the bunkers. For naval purposes the plant was designed to have an overall handling capacity of 2,000 tons an hour for an indefinite run, and be capable of speeding up to 2,400 tons an hour in emergencies. Tests for this capacity have been run, and the plant has been found to exceed requirements slightly.

United States' Kindergarten.

The word kindergarten, German for children's garden, means a school conducted on the theory that the earliest education of young children should be based on object lessons, exercises with toys, games and other activities calculated to interest them. This method was introduced by pioneer educators at New Harmony, Posey county, Indiana, in 1826. For some years this was the only kindergarten school in the United States.

Improvement on "Skis."

An increase of several yards in the jump of ski-runners is a rather surprising result of the process of metalizing objects by means of a spray. In Switzerland, a coating of aluminum of the thickness of thin cardboard is being applied to the ski-blades by this method, and this not only adds greatly to the durability of the bearing surface but it also very materially lessens friction, and tends further to prevent sinking of snow on the blades. It is the diminished friction that lengthens the jump.

SUN BROTHERS HAVE MANY NEW FEATURES

Possibly no better show will appear here, than the Great Sun Brothers' World's Progressive Aggregation
which is scheduled to exhibit at Daytona on Friday, January 5th.

The traveling tented show is today
America's most popular form of outdoor amusement and it is a perennial favorite with all classes of people.
The Sun Brothers' show for this season is a great, big first-class exhibition, with many stunning new features, fine horses, strange animals and a host of foreign and American novelty displays. The largest tents ever erected in this city are employed by this show. Everything is done for the great comfort of all visitors and seats are provided for all patrons.

The newly added trained animal tourney is this season a new attraction, and includes a bunch of amazingly trained lions, tigers, leopards
kangaroos, elephants, baboons, etc.
Two complete performances will be offered here, afternoon and night. The usual free out-door exhibitions will be given at noon-time, on the show grounds, and are free to the public.

TO SHELL CHESTNUTS.—Cut
one-half inch gash on flat side and put in a pan, allowing one-half teaspoonful of butter to each cupful of chestnuts. Shake over range until butter is melted. Put in oven and let stand five minutes. Remove from oven and with a small knife take off shells. By this method shelling and blanching are accomplished at the same time, as the skins adhere to the shells.

Chestnut Stuffing.—Three cupfuls of chestnuts, one-half cupful of butter,
one teaspoonful of salt, one-eighth teaspoonful of pepper, one-half cupful of cream, one cupful cracker crumbs.
Shell and blanch chestnuts. Cook in boiling salted water until soft. Drain and mash, using a potato ricer. Add one-half the butter, salt, pepper and cream. Melt remaining butter, mix with cracker crumbs, then combine.

Chestnut Croquettes.—One cupful boiled and mashed chestnuts, two tablespoonfuls thick cream, yolks of two eggs, one teaspoonful sugar, one-half teaspoonful vanilla. Mix ingredients in order given. Shape in balls, dip in crumbs, egg and crumbs again. Fry in deep fat and drain.

Chestnut Dressing For the Christmas Turkey.—Boil one quart of chestnuts in salted water until tender, then remove the shells and pass through the meat chopper. Mix it with half the quantity of grated breadcrumbs and season with celery salt, paprika, salt and a teaspoonful of powdered sweet herbs, then moisten with three tablespoonfuls of melted butter and add two tablespoonfuls of shredded parsley and half a grated onion. Blend these well and stuff the turkey twelve hours before roasting, so that the flesh will be delicately flavored. If a more moist dressing is preferred add half a cupful of milk.

Irene Fenwick, celebrated stage and screen star, makes her debut on the Paramount program as the star in the Famous Players production, "A Coney Island Princess" with Owen Moore, which is the attraction at the Crystal theater tomorrow afternoon and night. Though Miss Fenwick has already won distinction on the stage and on the screen it is safe to say that she has never done such delicious work before as the imper-

select families of the "Avenue," are Pete Mitholland, a "good fellow" and sportsman, and his fiancée, Alice Gardner. Only once have they quarreled—that was when Pete disgraced himself by coming upon the polo fields intoxicated. This was good cause, and we now find Pete staring blankly ahead of him with the returned ring
in his hand.

Still in a stupor from drink, Pete instructs his butler that he is leaving for Europe and staggers out of the house. He finds himself on the shores at Coney Island, in a garb not his own. During his wanderings over that great amusement park, Pete comes before the entrance of the "Turkish Dream." Partially attracted by the pretty dancer and chiefly in need of sleep, he smuggles himself into the place. He has come to the psychological moment for the proprietor, Mooney, and his daughter, Tessie, the dancer, are in a quandary.
Their orchestra, the pianist, has left them. Pete steps into the breach, much to the jealousy of Jan, the boatman, Tessie's ardent lover. As time passes Pete decides to return home,
taking with him Tessie and her father.
The jovial Irishman and his daughter dislike the idea of leaving their "kind," but with the arrival of the automobile they agree to go.

Tessie is taken care of by Pete's aunt, who would rather do most anything than come in contact with the belle of Coney Island. Her arrival causes consternation in the society circles and it is realized by Pete that she is not suitable for him, but he is determined to marry her, as Alice, according to the papers, is going to become the wife of his friend, Tony Graves.

During her stay at the Mitholland mansion, Tessie notices how Pete controls his feelings when Alice approaches and how Alice's heart nearly breaks when the two girls meet. Alice and Pete finally come face to face,
and Pete learns that the newspaper report of Alice's marriage to Tony are false. He takes her in his arms, and thus they are discovered by Tessie.
Summoning all her strength and forcing a smile upon her face, Tessie tells them that she lied and does not love Pete at all, and returns her ring. Pete is overcome to think that he had been on the verge of falling into the trap set by this young "vampire," while Alice is overjoyed at the unexpected turn of events, though secretly feeling that Tessie is making a great sacrifice.

After Tessie's return to her kingdom on the beach, "The Turkish Dream," true love steals its way into her heart as it had done to Alice and Pete, and soon Jan proves to be her ideal of a husband.

"THE MAN WHO STOOD STILL"—NEW DAYTONA

Stand on any corner in New York City or on other large city in the United States and you would never think that anything stood still, especially the men. Therefore when you hear about "The Man Who Stood Still," you are inclined to think, at this wonderful age of progress, that he must be something picked up in the old curiosity shop. "The Man Who Stood Still" was Louis Mann's triumphant stage success. We have produced it with that wonderful artist, Lew Fields, who has demonstrated his ability to make people laugh,
the world over. "The Man Who Stood Still" is one of the most interesting stories ever screened. In one scene
you laugh until it becomes painful,
only to find your laughter blending into tears, when, behold, there is another laugh coming. This is a clean drama, highly entertaining, instructive and chuck full of wholesome amusement.

For Polishing Furniture.

The polish generally used on mission furniture is the dull wax finish.
If, instead of applying only wax, alternate coats of boiled linseed oil and wax are used, a polish will be obtained which is brighter and more durable than the ordinary finish.

Has Not Remembered.

Ask a man the time of day right after he has looked at his watch, and he will invariably take a second look before answering.

Make Opportunities.

A great man will make great opportunities, even out of the commonest and meanest situations.

Mrs. T. E. Fitzgerald returned home today, after a two weeks' sojourn at St. Augustine.

G. A. Facetti was a Daytona visitor Tuesday and Wednesday, returning to Dupont Wednesday afternoon.

J. Fitch Walker was a DeLand visitor on business from Wednesday until today, making the trip by train.

J. D. Maley, having rented for the season his home on Silver Beach avenue, removed Tuesday with his family to North Ridgewood avenue, this city.

A rare novelty, not procurable elsewhere in U. S. A., a small and unique selection of Fancy Bags, Helen Purdue, 15 Volusia Ave. 18-3t

F. A. Root, who returned Tuesday evening from Asheville, N. C., was called to Fort Pierce by business Wednesday afternoon, but expected to get home again today.

Kirby Smith, who accompanied the remains of his father, C. L. Smith, from St. Augustine to Daytona, Tuesday afternoon and was present at the funeral, returned Wednesday afternoon to his home in Jacksonville.

Maurice Duffy, of Seattle, Wash., who visited with T. E. Fitzgerald for a few days, leaving here Monday evening for a trip down the coast, returned today and will remain with Mr. and Mrs. Fitzgerald until after Christmas.

*Make your Christmas selections at Wallace's and you make no mistake. No advance in prices. 6-15t

Miss Eleda Lapp, who is attending the Florida State College for Women at Tallahassee, will spend the Christmas holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Lapp, and other members of the family at their home on Fairview avenue.

Miss Mercy Skeels, who is making her home with her aunt, Mrs. George Walton and family, in this city, went to Viking Wednesday afternoon to spend the Christmas holidays with her parents and other members of the family at that place.

For the holidays: Beautiful line Klever Kraft silver and adjustable Toilet Kits. J. F. SHEELY, 48 Magnolia ave. 15-5t

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Omore, of Hartford, Conn., arrived Wednesday night and are established for the season in their winter home at the corner of Ridgewood and Orange avenues. Mr. and Mrs. Moore were accompanied by their daughter, Mrs. R. G. Keeney, and little daughter, Katherine.

*A lined Armadillo basket makes an appropriate gift at Wallace's. Sent through the mail. 6-15t

Mrs. L. A. Stout and son, Eugene Jones, arrived today, having motored down from Jacksonville in their car. They were delayed from yesterday until today in St. Augustine by the heavy rain of yesterday. They are at their winter home, corner of Palmetto and Live Oak avenues, which during the summer was remodeled and greatly improved by Edward S. Betts, the New York architect, who has been here during the past two seasons. Mrs. Stout is direct from New York and Mr. Jones from Asheville, N. C., where he has been engaged in newspaper work during the summer.

Got it at Once. Mr. Sharp—"Oh, I say, Mr. Dense, what animal do you think you'd like to be on a cold day?" Mr. Dense—"Um, er, ah—let me see—I think I should like to be a little otter. Anything else?"

Start of Coffee Industry in Java. Down to 1890 the only source of coffee supply was Arabia; but in that year Governor Van Hoerne of the Dutch East India company received some coffee seeds from traders, who plied between the Arabian gulf and Java. These seeds were planted and thrived so well that the industry of coffee-growing soon made Java one of the richest possessions under the control of the historic Dutch East India company.

Another Lure of Publicity. Many a man donates to some public movement the money he might well have used to pay his butcher, baker or grocer.—Macon News.

Little to Be Thankful For. Miss Joy required the various members of her Sunday-school class to tell her the things for which they were thankful. Mabel gave thanks for blue eyes, Dorothy for her wavy hair. Poor little Bill, freckle-faced and red of tresses, sighed when it came his turn. "Teacher, I don't know for what to be thankful. Seems to me God purty nigh ruin my looks."

Freezing Coconuts to Get at Milk. A Pennsylvania man has devised a means of removing coconut shells by freezing the nut until the shell is slightly contracted, and then subjecting it to a comparatively high temperature so as to cause rapid expansion. Cracks in the shell are thus produced. A series of hammer blows then completes the breaking of the shell.—Popular Science Monthly.

Devise Key-Making Machine. A key-making machine that will duplicate accurately a Yale, Corbin, or similar key, in one minute, has been introduced. All that is necessary is a blank and the key is duplicated. The key is placed in one clamp, the blank in another. The guide disk touches the key, the wheel the corresponding part of the blank, as it is revolved. A hand lever is moved from left to right, until the wheel stops grinding. The machine is so simple anyone can run it.

Mixing Paste. When flour paste becomes watery upon cooling, it is evidence that the mixture has been boiled too long. Only the best flour should be used for making paste. Many paper hangers do not boil paste. They make a stiff batter with lukewarm water, stirring out all lumps, and then briskly stir in boiling water. When the mass thickens continue stirring, but add no more hot water. Pour a little cold water on top and set the paste away to cool.

In the Rubber Fields. While the most approved methods of reducing the milk to rubber in South America is by coagulation in smoke, natives of Africa frequently resort to the practice of covering their bodies with the fluid as it is taken from the tree and after there has been sufficient evaporation the rubber residue is scraped off and molded into cubes. In the Fiji islands the rubber workers use their mouths as "retorts" or "separators," the rubber pellets as they form being taken in the fingers and molded into balls.

Filial Affection. At a wine party of young men at one of the colleges, notes of apology were handed in from two of the proposed guests, who were unable to attend owing to the death of their father. A young gentleman, heir to a considerable property, who had been partaking freely of the hospitalities of the festive board, suddenly burst into tears. "Was this dear old gentleman a friend of yours?" asked the sympathetic host. "No, no, it's not that," sobbed the guest; "only—I was just thinking—everybody's father dies but mine."

BEAUTIFUL YACHTS ARRIVE AT DAYTONA EARLY THIS MORNING

THREE BOATS COME IN TODAY
FROM NORTHERN WATERS—
IMPROVEMENTS ON CANAL
BRINGING IN MORE CRAFT.

The new canal connecting the main Halifax river channel with the city dock, which has recently been completed, is one of the finest on the east coast. It is not less than 80 feet wide at any point nor less than six feet deep. Many yachts arrive each week, stopping at the dock of the Halifax River Yacht club, which find the club dock much easier of access than formerly. A further improvement will be the deepening of the channel which connects the yacht club dock with the canal, the work on which is to start in a few days.

Three beautiful yachts came in to the dock this morning from northern waters, all of which were accompanied by their owners and parties.

The Marguerite, a trim, new steam yacht of 60 feet, owned by W. D. Sargent of New York city, a member of the Thousand Islands Yacht club, touched at the dock for a short while this morning, to get supplies. This fine craft was built last summer by the Smith and Williams company of Salisbury, Md., after plans by J. Murray Watts, the well known boat designer. Its beam is 13 feet and its draft three and one-half feet. Its engine is a Lamb six-cylinder type, making it a fast boat for its size. Mr. Sargent left for Miami and other southern points about 11 o'clock in the boat.

A. C. Woodman of the Union Petroleum company, Philadelphia, Pa., arrived this morning at the yacht club in his 85-foot yacht, the Idealia. This boat was recently purchased from the New London Ship and Engine company of Bayonne, N. J., and was launched in 1912, designed and built by the Elco company also of Bayonne. The Idealia is a beautifully fitted yacht of 14 feet beam and four feet draft, with hull painted black and its steam propelling force created by Diesel oil engines. This boat left today for Miami where its owner will spend the greater part of the winter.

A third arrival today is the Freeland, owned by Alfred C. Thompson of Baltimore, Md., which will probably be in this vicinity for some time. Mr. and Mrs. Thompson and family occupied the Malby cottage on the corner of Orange avenue and First street and have many friends in Daytona. His beautiful yacht was designed by S. Cary Smith of Elizabeth, N. J., and was launched in 1910. The steam yacht is 70 feet long, 13½ feet beam and is equipped with a six-cylinder 1914 Winston engine.

WEATHER

NO TEMPERATURE TODAY

Owing to the marvelous system in the Daytona Postoffice the temperature report, which is sent by special delivery by the weather bureau had not arrived at the Daily News office up until the time of going to press. The report comes on the 1:35 train and was today entrusted to a negro for delivery. The negro evidently got lost and did not arrive at the Daily News office until 3:45.

YACHT CLUB CANAL WILL BE IMPROVED

F. A. Root, who recently completed the widening and deepening of the canal from the city dock and yacht club building to the river channel and the fill at Casino Burgoyne, has now contracted with the Halifax River Yacht club for the widening and deepening of the channel along the east side of the clubhouse and its continuation along the outside of the docks on the south side of the building. The existing channel to the east of the clubhouse will be made six feet in depth and widened to 100 feet. The work will be done with the Root section dredge No. 4 and will probably be commenced this afternoon or tomorrow morning.

Not to Be Expected.

A certain knight growing old, his hair fell off and he became bald; to hide which imperfection he wore a periwig. But as he was riding out with some other a-hunting a sudden gust of wind blew off the periwig and exposed his bald pate. The company could not further laughing at the accident and he himself laughed as loud as anybody, saying: "How was it to be expected that I could keep strange hair upon my head when my own would not stay there?"

"Apple-Pie Order."

The expression "in apple-pie order" is traced to Puritan times, to the good housewife Hephzibah. Every Saturday the good woman baked two or three dozen apple-pies, which were to last her family through the week. These she placed in her pantry, labeling one or more for each day. The pantry, thus arranged, was said to be "in apple-pie order."

Muzzled.

Speaking of garters—have you heard of the Harvard students who tied a pair with silver clasps in a Harvard square shopwindow, and thinking to raise a smile, at least, from the charmer at the counter, asked the price of a dog collar, pointing at the same time to the silver-clasped garter? She turned, looked sweetly at the young man, and said: "We do not separate them for puppies, Mr."—Boston Herald.

Keeping Baby Quiet.

One mother used a clever device to keep her ever-restless youngster from crawling away all the time. She got a large soft gray blanket and cut out gay designs from the nursery books, which she sewed on the blanket. The pictures were made of linen, from one of those linen children's books sold in all the shops. The bright pictures attracted the child's attention, and he would sit for hours looking at them and picking at them. A baby fence around the rug completed the outfit.

The Campbells Came.

A family by the name of Campbell are members of a certain Presbyterian church in one of the suburban districts near Philadelphia. They are rich, influential and exceedingly liberal; but they have fallen into the habit of appearing at church each Sunday morning from five to ten minutes after the service has commenced. Last Sunday, after the opening prayer, the minister was reading to a large congregation a passage from the Old Testament, when there was heard the swift approach and sudden halt of an automobile. Just as Rev. Blank, in loud, sonorous tones had read the words, "And lo, the camels were coming," the door opened, and the Campbell contingent, six strong, marched with dignity down the outer aisle! It was too much for human nature to withstand. A ripple of laughter, quickly checked, sounded throughout the building, and then the minister's voice, after a suspicious break, proceeded with the next verse.

SEABREEZE

DAYTONA BEACH

Miss Ethel Sholtz and friend, Miss Helen Aka, will come over from Stetson today to spend the holidays at the Sholtz Atlantic avenue home.

Misses Mary Reed and Sarah Chase are expected to come over from DeLand and Stetson university to spend the Christmas vacation with friends.

Rain kept nearly every member of the Seabreeze council at their homes last night and for that reason the call meeting has been postponed until tonight.

Judge Isaac A. Stewart of DeLand, was a Seabreeze visitor yesterday, spending the day at the Gray Gables, his ocean front property, which is conducted by his niece, Miss Ellen Butner.

Mrs. H. I. King, of Cold Spring, Ind., will arrive today to visit her daughter, Mrs. W. H. Courtney and Mrs. Ed Wilmington, at their respective homes on Grandview and Ocean avenues, during the next few months.

Miss Jessie Allen was expected today from Winter Park, where she is attending Rollins college, to stay at the home of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. J. K. List, on Atlantic avenue, during her vacation. Miss Allen came down from her home in West Virginia about two months ago and enjoyed two weeks at the beach before leaving for Winter Park, where she is spending the winter with her parents.

Martell Field arrived Wednesday afternoon to spend a two weeks' Christmas vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Field, at their attractive home on the river front and Halifax avenue south. Mr. Field is a student at the Culver Military school at Culver, Ind., and will return to his college work early in January.

Shakespeare's Advice.
That we would do, we should do when we would; for this world changes and hath abatements and delays as many as there are tongues, are hands, are accidents; and then this should be like a spendthrift sigh, that hurts by easing.—Shakespeare.

Round and Round.
You put out the cat the last thing each night and next morning she is patiently waiting to come in to be put out again at night. And so on and on like the never ending roll of the River Oregon. You may outlive this particular cat, but there will always be other cats just as particular. You cannot outlive the entire cat crop. There will ever be more of the cats than there are of you. Long after you are gone there will be cats to put out and let in and put out. So, after all, what is the use?—Kansas City Star.

Use for Epsom Salts.
Epsom salts has been found by many to be excellent for setting the color of a delicate fabric. Just add a teaspoonful to each gallon of water and your garments, even those made of serge and other woolen materials, will wash easily without losing their color.

Peculiar Wrapping Material.
In Bulgaria, one of the poorer countries, where even cheap German wrapping paper is hardly known, parcels are carefully wrapped up in large square linen or printed cotton, called a bukhta. The bukhta is an institution. The bread is brought wrapped in check cotton; the shoemaker sends your boots home in a gay-colored square; even the wedding presents for a bride are sent in a bukhta. It is returned to the sender (like a basket) by the messenger.

Have to Be Careful.
"Has woman a sense of humor?" asked the matter of fact man. "Oh, yes," replied Miss Cayenne. "But she has to curb it. If women laughed at everything they saw that's funny they would spoil efforts to propose by some really nice men."

Long after you are gone there will be cats to put out and let in and put out. So, after all, what is the use?—Kansas City Star.

Use for Epsom Salts.
Epsom salts has been found by many to be excellent for setting the color of a delicate fabric. Just add a teaspoonful to each gallon of water and your garments, even those made of serge and other woolen materials, will wash easily without losing their color.

Peculiar Wrapping Material.
In Bulgaria, one of the poorer countries, where even cheap German wrapping paper is hardly known, parcels are carefully wrapped up in large square linen or printed cotton, called a bukhta. The bukhta is an institution. The bread is brought wrapped in check cotton; the shoemaker sends your boots home in a gay-colored square; even the wedding presents for a bride are sent in a bukhta. It is returned to the sender (like a basket) by the messenger.

Have to Be Careful.
"Has woman a sense of humor?" asked the matter of fact man. "Oh, yes," replied Miss Cayenne. "But she has to curb it. If women laughed at everything they saw that's funny they would spoil efforts to propose by some really nice men."

Shakespeare's Advice.
That we would do, we should do when we would; for this world changes and hath abatements and delays as many as there are tongues, are hands, are accidents; and then this should be like a spendthrift sigh, that hurts by easing.—Shakespeare.

O. D. BLEAKLEY

O. D. Bleakley of Franklin, Pa., is the representative-elect who aroused comment the other day by traveling from his home to Washington in an airplane.

Peculiar Maine Lighthouse.
Far off the coast of Maine is a jagged ledge of rock, known as Saddleback island, on which the only means of landing is by a derrick with a sort of chair is attached. A lighthouse is maintained on this ledge, managed by a keeper and two assistants with ten men on duty at all times.

Cloakroom Chat.
"I got my constituents an $800,000 post office," boasted Congressman Flubbub. "They ought to be grateful, eh?"

"I dunno," said Congressman Wombat. "I prefer the individual note. When you send a man a ten-cent package of free seeds he sort of feels that you have done something for him personally."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Caddie's Criticism.
A beginner on a brand-new golf course in the southwest of London was having a particularly trying experience on a hole laid across a well-meaning but exasperating plowed field. When he did not miss the ball he hit the ground behind it. His caddie, summing up the position with his cold, professional eye, remarked to his companion: "My word! It wouldn't cost him much if he was playin' with new-laid eggs!"

Pillows Generally Too High.
A family doctor writes: "I cannot give you a universal recipe for sound sleep, but let me tell you that in all the thousands of patients I have seen in bed I have never met with one who arranged his pillows hygienically. All too high, far too high. High pillows curve the spine, bend the neck, and thus prevent the free circulation of blood in the brain. You can never get the full value out of a night's sleep unless you fix your pillow so low that the head and neck are just on a level with the spine."

Growing Young.
There are two ways to keep from growing old: the first is to die young and the other is to keep young. The spirit of youth is cultivated by learning new things. A desire to know is followed by mental growth. Thus you grow young in spite of wrinkles and gray hair.

Sickness and Death From Milk.
It is well known that the records of many cities show that dirty milk causes much sickness and death from diarrheal diseases among children one to five years old and that it is in hot weather that dirty milk is most deadly.

Pointing Out a Difference.
Dean Hole, who was the pioneer of rose shows in his country, was fond of telling this story: "At Cambridge, England, a horticultural show was suddenly invaded by a heavenly host of sweet girl graduates. 'Madam,' said a member of the executive to the lady in whose charge they came, 'may I point out that this is a school for horticulture and not for husbandry?'"

Let's Find Our Friends.
It is about time to look the world over and see if we have any friends who can help us preserve free institutions intact on this hemisphere. If we have no friends, let us behave so as to deserve them. Let us acquit ourselves so that nations will see in us a desirable ally, and not a parasite for whom they are to pull chestnuts out of the fire.—Frank B. Vrooman, in the Century Magazine.

ACTING IS NOW TO BE OIL

tery that surrounded Gum Swamp for many years after the Civil war. Incidentally, the find is one that may mean wealth to property owners in the district concerned.

A tale that reads like romance or an old legend is furnished by Nat E. Walker, a lawyer and legislator of Crawfordville, whose theory that the extinct "volcano" was a burning oil well has come true. He writes that the oil lands are now being developed by the Cates Brothers, who organized a company and that to date the quantity of the mineral has not been ascertained.

Suspected Oil Veins.
For many years, residents of that section have known of the wonderful geological formation of surface rocks and the kerosene-looking substance found covering the waters of many pools in the vicinity of the recent discovery. Some had faith that sooner or later petroleum in large quantities would be found in the extreme eastern part of the county.

All of the land east of the Wakulla and the St. Marks river is underlaid with rock near the surface, and in many places covering almost the surface. Across the St. Marks the nature of the rocks changes, further east for five or six miles the rocks being harder. At Gum Swamp, at the extreme east, the rocks are flint as pure as any Indian arrow-head.

It must not be forgotten that this gum marsh was a veritable swamp, covering many miles along the coast of Wakulla and Jefferson counties, from whence the smoke of the so-called Florida volcano came in the days of 1864 when it was first seen. The smoke was constant until after the Charleston earthquake in the early eighties, after which it was seen no more.

Thought Impenetrable.
Considered impenetrable, no man had even explored this swamp, then supposed to be a wet, boggy morass, with briars and brambles, so thick that "you could scarcely stick a butcher's knife to the handle in it," as the old residents used to express it. This opinion prevailed until recent years. Now it is a favorable ground for hunters and trappers.

Who discovered that Gum Swamp was not such an impenetrable place, is not known. However, in the days when the volcano spit forth its smoke in greatest volume, one party of explorers attempted to locate it.

Explorers Try Hand.
Headed by Hon. Judge P. Woodson White, who is still living in Quincy, at the age of 95 years, the party entered the woods in 1876. Among these bold and intrepid men was a reporter of the New York World, whose mission was to "write up" for the first time this great mysterious smoke.

The band sailed eastward on the St. Marks river until they reached a deep creek running into the swamp. Several miles inland they camped for the night and the next morning attempted to rig a ladder up the side of a tall pine. The adventurous reporter claimed the honor of taking the first "peep" of the surrounding territory.

He fell from a height of forty feet, breaking his leg, which fact so discouraged the explorers that they turned without making one discovery. They also brought back tales that it was useless for other marooners to attempt to enter Gum Swamp.

Burned Many Years.
This was many, many years ago. The smoke was seen for many years afterward. During the war, it was supposed to come from a deserter's camp, of which there were many along the Florida coast; afterward, it was just a plain mystery, with no one caring to undertake its solving.

People in Tallahassee, twenty-five miles away saw the smoke, which fact gives an idea of its intense volume. When it died out, many tales originated as to its cause.

When recent indications of oil were discovered, Mr. Walker was among the first to advance the burning gusher theory, which has now been accepted as the truth.

Growing Young.
There are two ways to keep from growing old: the first is to die young and the other is to keep young. The spirit of youth is cultivated by learning new things. A desire to know is followed by mental growth. Thus you grow young in spite of wrinkles and gray hair.

A Dashing Outfit From Top to Toe

SHAPED on Fifth avenue, New York, this faultless outfit for the street consists of a tailored suit of almost invisibly striped worsted set off with a wonderful stole of sable, so voluminous as to circle the neck once and a half. The turban matches the suit in tone and is adorned with a jet fancy dotted with ripe berries.

For the slender figure Paris has sent forth a dainty brassiere of flesh pink mousseline, having two ruffles of the material placed all the way round the top and another narrower one about the lower edge, which comes just under the bust line, the model being empire in style.

Ostrich feather fringe and borderings are seen on some of the very best models. Small boat shaped turbans are entirely covered with flat parallel ostrich plumes, which end on top in waving nanaches.

ALLANDALE.

ALLANDALE, Dec. 21.—The Allandale Improvement association held its regular meeting last Monday evening when considerable work was done and planned. On Tuesday, Jan. 2nd, the annual meeting will be held and officers elected for the coming year. The public is invited to attend the meetings.

On Sunday night the Rev. H. G. Fithian gave a fine helpful sermon after the song service. These services are most helpful and Allandale has been much favored by having Mr. Fithian locate here for the season. These meetings will be held every Sunday evening during the season and everybody will be welcome.

Residents of Allandale had the pleasure of having Cornelius Christy with them the latter part of last week. He has been something of a stranger this year, being in Jacksonville, as his office is located there.

Several more of the non-residents property holders have been busy having their lots and packages cleaned up and the appearance of the place has been greatly improved. Others should do likewise.

Miss Dorothy Poole and party are located in the Aldrich bungalow and it is a pleasure to see Mrs. Zollo going to and from the postoffice.

The cold snaps of late did some damage to the tender plants and flowers but has not hurt the oranges or grape fruit.

C. O. Andrews arrived on Saturday, bringing with him from the west a severe cold, so has been under the weather, but has been improving and hopes to be on deck in a few days.

It is learned that Mrs. Logan has so much improved that she is out of the hospital and is looking forward to coming down with her sister, Mrs. Iola W. Rusk, sometime after the first of the year. Friends here will be glad to have both ladies in Allandale again.

FUNERAL SERVICES HELD WEDNESDAY

FOLLOWING SERVICES AT CHRISTIAN CHURCH THE REMAINS OF JUDGE J. M. TISDALE WERE FORWARDED TO KENTUCKY.

Funeral services were held at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, at the First Christian church, over the remains of Judge J. M. Tisdale, of Dayton, Ky., who died at his winter home in this city Sunday morning. The services were conducted by Rev. R. D. Harding, minister of the Christian church of Dayton, and Rev. S. L. Jackson, minister of the local church. Rev. Harding, preaching the funeral sermon.

Following the services the body was forwarded to Lexington, Ky., accompanied by Mr. Harding, and will be placed in the retaining vault at that place until spring, when it will be interred in the family burial plot.

Judge Tisdale had made all arrangements for his funeral and for the disposal of his estate, to be carried out by Mr. Harding, who was an old friend and neighbor. He was well to do financially and made ample provision for the comfort of Mrs. Tisdale during her lifetime, and at her death the estate will go to charitable and church purposes, to which the judge had already given liberally. He had very freely assisted the local Christian church and recently gave large sums of money toward the support of the Midway Orphans' school of Midway, Ky., and to various other charitable institutions and churches. He several years ago founded and supports the Tisdale Memorial church and chapel at Chuchow, China.

Judge Tisdale, who was 77 years of age, was born near Lexington, Harrison county, Ky., and served in the Confederate army during the Civil war.

Mrs. Tisdale has the sympathy of friends in her bereavement. She will remain here until spring, having for company Miss Margaret Moore, of Dayton, who came to Daytona with Judge and Mrs. Tisdale.

MARKSMANSHIP OF SOLDIERS ON THE BORDER IMPROVES

(Associated Press Correspondence.)

FIELD HEADQUARTERS AMERI-CAN EXPEDITION IN MEXICO,
Dec. 12.—Extraordinary improvement in marksmanship is being noted in reports received at field headquarters.
The regular life of the soldiers has steadied their nerves, and the clear air of the Mexican plateau region make sighting easy. Another factor in the good showing is the steady drill
the men have received in fire control, new methods of which are being tried
by the cavalry with remarkable success.

Machine gun troops also are being drilled to use their arms to the best advantage. Recently several companies of the 16th infantry were brought north from El Valle and demonstrations of fire control were given for the benefit of the officers stationed there. The machine gun work was under the direction of Captain F. S.
Bowen, assisted by Captain W. C.
Short.

Among the most interesting experiments now being conducted is that in pistol firing by a detachment of cavalry, chosen at random. A pistol board, which is conducting the work, has evolved a unique line of targets worked out by ropes and pulleys, which fall flat when the cavalry charge over them. The attempt is being made to evolve a system of pistol firing while charging. At present the men are firing directly ahead while leaning forward in their saddles and holding their arms just ahead to the right of their mounts' ears. Excellent results, it is said, have already been obtained.

When ammunition arrives, another interesting test will be made, that of determining how effectually the present three-inch field gun will demolish barbed wire entanglements, trenches and bomb-proofs. A line of fortifications has been constructed as nearly like those in Europe as possible. The artillery will be allowed to work on these under conditions that would obtain in actual war, and the results of their fire will be noted.

Sure Scheme.

Young Wife—"I am determined to learn at what hour my husband comes home at night. Yet, do what I will, I cannot keep awake, and he is always careful not to make a particle of noise.
Is there any drug which produces wakefulness?" Old Wife—"No need to buy drugs. Sprinkle the floor with tacks."

Getting value out of advertising depends very much on the value put into

The Great Iron Cross
 A Christmas Story
 by Harry Irving Greene

IT WAS upon one of those good old days of nearly four hundred years ago when that prince of bold buccaneros, Cortes, was gridding Mexico under his iron heels and sending his ships back laden with treasures, and while all Spain was ringing like a bell to the tune of his deeds, that the beginning of the circumstances happened. As to whether the ending was due to a near miracle or pure chance each must take his choice, but the way it all happened was like this: Carlos de Montbar, grown old and gray as a silver fox in adventures upon land and sea and adventuring with his ear to the ground the better to hear the rumbles from afar, arose saying to himself:

"Cortes! Who, then, is he to be a worker of marvels which I cannot do? True, he has shaken the tree of conquest first and many golden apples have fallen into his helmet, but in his haste has he not left as many more behind? I will follow in his steps, and with much less trouble than befall him gather those he has left behind, also becoming rich and famous. I will take my two ships, summon my men and sail to this land of gold." And thus having determined he assembled his crews, after which he sought out the good padre Ferdinand.

"Father," he said, "I have two as good ships as ever broke a wave and crews of whom even Satan himself is afraid. We are to sail to the wonderful land of Mexico and fill our holds with its treasures. But there will be storms to overcome, dying comrades to minister to and proper prayers for our success to be said, therefore we cannot sail without a priest. Be one of us as our holy advisor and your share shall be next to mine." The priest smiled up at him.

"Yes, you will need a priest, and therefore I will go. But it is not the gold of these heathens that I wish, but merely their souls. May I claim them as my share?" Montbar laughed loudly.

"As many as you can get. But how do you plan to snare such cunning things?"

"Listen and I will tell. Upon some mountain top from whence it may be seen from afar your men must build me a great mission. In front of this mission I will place a great magic lure, so that all seeing it shall be drawn closer. And once I have them before I shall talk to them of the true faith until one by one they shall embrace it that Christ may receive them. Thus in my keeping will be their souls. Am I not crafty, also?" Montbar slapped his thigh.

"Wonderous so, Father, and it is a good bargain for both of us—the souls for you and the gold for me. But what is to be the magic lure?"

"That, my son, you shall know in good time. You say you sail in a fortnight. Upon the morning of your departure you must send me 40 of your men to convey it to the ship. You promise that?"

"As many as you wish," Montbar agreed.

And when the day of sailing came and 40 straining men hauled aboard one of the ships a great cross made of iron, Montbar walked about it in much awe. "By all the saints, Father," he said as he crossed himself, "you have come prepared to convert a universe."

"If the better the day the better the deed, why may it not as well be that the greater the emblem the greater the good?"

Whereupon they made sail and disappeared adown the western horizon. And from that day nearly 400 years ago until but a few months ago no eye of man saw sign or trace of them.

Up the Gulf of Mexico the oil barge Crescent came wallowing like a pig in the trough of burly, rough and tumble seas that ran over her like the slithering tongues of monstrous brutes gone mad. Deep down in her the old engines clanked and wheezed, while McArdle, the engineer, scratched his head dubiously as he watched their spasmodic laboring. "And while by the grace of the Lord they may last the trip out, I sometimes misdoubt it," he muttered. "For at any minute are they liable to fly to flinders like the wondrous old one-horse shay."

And fly to pieces they did. With the report of a gun a connecting pin snapped asunder, and the next instant its rod had jammed, while with the roar of a cannon a cylinder head went crashing through a bulkhead. In an instant the engine room was deluged with live vapor, but with one thrust of his arm the engineer shut off the steam and half fainting from his scalds went working his way forward between seas to the bridge where Captain Travers was clinging in a smother of spume. "And its gone to glory they have, sir," he reported, with a death's head grin. Gray of face, Travers pointed to the bar of Madre de la Laguna with its spouting foam a few miles under their lee.

"Then so have we along with them. Our anchor will never hold on this bottom, and we'll all eat Christmas dinner tomorrow in Davy Jones' locker." Reverently McArdle drew a small cross from his pocket, kissed it and replaced it while the captain looked on silently.

"It will take a bigger cross than that to save us," he announced grimly. The engineer straightened his pain-twisted face.

"That may be, sir. Yet big and small, that same token has saved many a man and 'tis my belief it will save many another. Leastwise, 'tis our only hope." Down to his own cabin he went creeping in search of oil and bandages.

All night long the Crescent, plunging backward against her restraining cable as a wild horse bucks against its tether, dragged the anchor closer and closer to the seething bar where she must break her back, casting them all into a seething pot, where neither man nor boat could survive a minute. At dawn of Christmas morning, with destruction but an hour away, Captain Travers summoned his men before him. He pointed an ominous finger at the seething bar now but a child's length away.

"My friends," said he, "In an hour from now it will all be over. This will be our last Christmas day. We have but little time in which to say our last words. Therefore, what shall they be?" From somewhere among the despairing down the hoarse voice of the engineer arose in a creaking attempt at song.

"To the cross I cling—" One by one they joined their voices in a ragged accompaniment of chorals that was torn from their lips by the hurricane to be lost in the veil of the surf upon the bar. And as their last words ceased there came a mighty tug upon the cable as if some giant of the depths inconceivably vast had seized the anchor and was holding the ship fast against the drift. And as they saw that it dragged no more they looked at each other, first in amazement, then with the joy of men snatched from the very jaws of death by a miracle.

"The anchor has found its grip and is holding," they told each other. But that such good fortune could long continue each had but little faith.

Yet 24 hours later when the sea had calmed they still found themselves riding in safety. Then they gave the steam winch full power and gradually the anchor came to the surface, still holding in its grip the object which it had found and fastened itself to so desperately. And as the crew burning with curiosity bent over the rail to gaze upon the mysterious thing which had preserved them, and which foot by foot was being dragged from its bed of sand, they saw rising through the waters in the anchor's grip a great object blackened and incrustated by the waters of the sea, a monstrous iron cross such as it might take 40 strong men to carry.

CLUB EXTENDS A CORDIAL WELCOME

The following letter has been issued by the Arcadia Commercial club in relation to the approaching meeting in that city of the State Educational association:

To the Teachers and School Officers of Florida:

Your executive committee has announced the program for the meeting of the State Educational association in Arcadia, December 27-29. We feel that it is a great thing for the Arcadia and DeSoto county that your organization is to hold its thirteenth annual session here.

A glance at the program is convincing proof, but the testimony of other cities that have had the privilege of entertaining you, of becoming acquainted with you and learning first hand the wonderful work you are doing for a Greater Florida and the wonderful work you are doing in which you are doing this work, causes us to feel that your meeting is to have a profound effect upon the life of our people socially, spiritually, educationally and commercially. We know that you are going to make us realize as never before what a great world of opportunity, what a splendid world of growing enlightenment we are living in today.

You have done infinitely more for Florida than Florida has done for you. You are coming among a people who appreciate your heroic services and who are willing to lend whatever aid lies in their power to bring about conditions more favorable to your welfare. We want you to tell us how we can help you and to tell us in such a way that we will know how, when and where to direct our forces in your behalf.

The hotels, boarding houses and homes of the city are making special preparations to receive you, and the thousand or more representatives of your great association will be accorded with genuine good cheer the true Arcadian hospitality. If you wish to make hotel reservations or desire any information regarding the city, plans of the local committees, meeting places of the sectional groups, etc., write us and we shall be glad to serve you.

With best wishes for a Happy Christmas season,

Cordially yours,
 ARCADIA COMMERCIAL CLUB,
 G. S. Gardner,
 President.
 Geo. M. Lynch,
 Secretary.

A Difference.
 You can make a hit with a woman by calling her a vision. But you can't call her a sight and get away with it. —Cincinnati Enquirer.

Art for Art's Sake.
 "How do you know those pictures are worth what you paid for them?" "I don't know it," replied Mr. Cumrox. "But I'm not worrying. When I get through with the stock ticker down town, I don't propose to come home and study a new line of market quotations."

Saturday Holiday.
 The beginnings of the Saturday half-holiday might be traced to an old-time custom among southern planters. "On Saturdays," says Professor Sanford in "The Story of Agriculture," "for either the whole or a part of the day, the slaves were released from field work. . . . In many cases they used this time and Sundays in which to earn money for themselves by hiring out and doing odd jobs. There were many instances in which slaves purchased their freedom and that of their families with money earned in this way."

PANAMA CANAL IN BETTER CONDITION THAN EVER BEFORE

(Associated Press Correspondence.)

PANAMA, Dec. 7.—The slides in Gaillard cut which have been menacing navigation, have been overcome. Today the channel is in better shape than it has ever been before. For a minimum width of 180 feet it is 35 feet deep, and it is at least 30 feet deep clear across the original prism, 300 feet wide. The slides at Cucaracha and Culebra which have bulged forward as if to smother the waterway under their mass, have been dredged away until they look flat and impotent. Barring some unforeseen development, such as a new break in a wholly unexpected place or the crumbling of the great cliffs of breccia at Gold Hill or Contractors Hill, the interruption of traffic by the slides are done.

The engineers in charge will not commit themselves to prophecy but they say the cut is in the best shape it was ever in, and the fact that they have taken away all but three of the dredges and cut out the Sunday and holiday work is a strong indication of their confidence in the situation. The three dredges are carrying the excavation work of the original channel line in order to establish a defensive zone to prevent encroachments on the channel. Much work is yet to be done to complete the channel to its full width of 300 feet with a bottom of 45 feet, but it is already possible now to give passage to the biggest ships on the seas without any trouble.

H. D. BUMSTEAD ENTERS THE SOLDIERS' NATIONAL HOME

H. D. Bumstead, who left this city last week to enter the Soldiers' National home in Dayton, Ohio, writes the News from that place, Dec. 17th, requesting that his copy of the paper be forwarded to him and says in part: "Arrived here at 3:00 p. m., Friday, and found a great difference from dear old Daytona so far as the weather was concerned. When we reached Lexington, Ky., we ran into a snow storm, the first snow I had seen in several years. Friday was the coldest day they had had in Dayton for several years. I was taken at once to the hospital where I expect to be for several weeks. I hope you will send me your valuable paper, as I prize it highly and would feel lost without it. Please excuse the poor writing, but I am in too much pain to do better. As soon as I get straightened out will write more fully." Mr. Bumstead sent regards to his Daytona friends and added as a postscript, "It is snowing now, Sunday morning."

HIGH PRICE OF COAL REASON OF GAS TRAIN

SPECIAL COACHES ORDERED TO CARRY SERVICE BETWEEN
JACKSONVILLE AND SAVANNAH
BEGINNING JANUARY 1.

SAVANNAH, Dec. 21.—Beginning January 1, the Seaboard Air Line railway will operate between Savannah and Jacksonville, Fla., and Savannah and Columbia, S. C., gasoline coaches carrying fifty passengers each, with trailers for additional passengers, officials of the road announced today.

The Seaboard has ordered two of these coaches, costing $60,000, and they are to be delivered for use the latter part of December. It is announced they will make an average speed of 45 miles an hour, with a speed of 60 miles an hour when necessary.

The coaches have powerful gasoline motors of an advanced type, at th forward ends, doing away with the necessity of any other engine. Road officials state the same schedules now effective with steam trains will be maintained with these gasoline coaches.

It is stated that the Seaboard is the first large railroad in the United States to adopt gasoline driven cars.
The reason for the innovation is the very high price of coal.

The Atlantic Coast Line railroad, it was announced today, is going after the high price of coal in another way.
The road has already, in its shops at Waycross, Ga., converted ten coal-burning engines into wood burners,
some of which are in use on Florida short lines where coal burners formerly were operated. The Coast Line estimates these ten will save them 50 tons of coal a day. Official state they will not be used on any but short or branch lines in Florida and Georgia.
Other engines besides these initial ten will be converted into wood burners,
it is stated.

The Central of Georgia railroad is going after the coal problem with oil.

instead of wood and gasoline. The Central has taken four oil-burning engines formerly used between Tybee and Savannah in the summer, and has put them in operation between Savannah and Guyton, a point 30 miles away, using coal burning engines on the Tybee tracks during the winter.

Charity.

A worthy countryman in Suabia
sent in a petition to the military authorities asking that his son be allowed a furlough to come home and visit his parents. He concluded his document as follows: "Excuse had writing. I have only had a commonschool education, and that under a teacher who was a very thirsty man."

Even Germs Obey Laws of Gravity.

The influence of gravity upon bacteria in the air may be observed in various ways. In addition to its action within a limited area like a sewer or a room, Miquel found in some investigations in Paris that whereas on the Rue de Rivoli 750 germs were present in a cubic meter yet at the summit of the Pantheon only 28 were found in the same quantity of air.

SPECIAL TAXES ARE PAYABLE JANUARY 1

Notices are being sent out by the office of the collector of internal revenue, of special taxes due January 1 under the "war tax" legislation. Since the payment of the last taxes, a number of articles have been removed from the taxable list. This exemption also includes dealers in manufactured tobacco. This is true, also, of the tax on commercial brokers, commission merchants and dealers in leaf tobacco. Ship brokers, however, were added to the list and must pay taxes.

The tax on theatres remains the same except that in towns of 5,000 population or less, the tax is one-half the yearly rate as appears by the list. Forms for returns will be mailed to all taxpayers now of record in the collector's office and other persons liable to make returns can obtain forms by application in person or by letter to the collector's office in the Federal building at Jacksonville.

The special tax is payable by brokers, pawnbrokers, ship brokers and custom house brokers, proprietors of theaters, museums or concert halls, circuses and public exhibitions not otherwise enumerated, proprietors of bowling alleys or billiard rooms, manufacturers of tobacco, cigars and of garettas.

Arrange Kitchen Conveniences.

The busiest season for the farmer is also the busiest season for the farm woman. The conveniences that will lighten and expedite her work should be given as much consideration as the implements to be used in the field.
